

For about two weeks now, I have been receiving calls from Commercial Business soliciting. The most recent was from some Company selling Gutter Guards gutters. The thing that make this totally unusual and wrong is that these calls have come on my Cellular Phone. The caller knows a lot of information about me, such as my address, City and State/ZIP. My Cellular Phone provider is Cingular and I'm on a plan that has limited minutes --local and long distance (no roll-over). Two (2) of the three (3) calls received were long distance. Because of the plan I'm on and the way I must use my phone just to be able to afford it, I have a limited number for distribution of my cellular number and I'm careful who I give it to (Only family and a few friends). Not one of the callers has ever answered the question, "how did you get this number" . This is costing me money "IT HAS TO STOP" I can't always look at my phone to see what numbers appear before answering it, especially while driving.

Thank you,
